ENTREPRENEURIAL
ECOSYSTEM THROUGH
ANGEL INVESTING

"I have found that there is a huge need for mentoring entrepreneurs. Often, we see a business plan, but the entrepreneur has no idea how to sell their concepts to the savvy members of our group."

~ Adele Connors, Co-Founder

"There are many reasons to come to the beautiful Adirondacks, but limited start-up or growth capital can deter entrepreneurs. Point Positive helps by providing funding and mentoring to grow businesses and strengthen our communities."

~ Lee Keet, Co-Founder

Investing in Success

Point Positive's member investors are experienced leaders who provide capital, mentorship, and networks to support growing Adirondack startups. Through pitch sessions and collaboration, they help nurture innovative businesses that drive regional economic growth.

Collaborating for Growth

Partnerships with regional colleges, economic groups, angel investors, and venture funds strengthen our network, creating jobs and building sustainable businesses that help retain graduates and future generations in the Adirondacks.

The Point Positive Fund

The Adirondack Foundation's Point Positive Fund supports emerging entrepreneurs through mentoring, workshops, and the promotion of regional economic opportunities. Tax-deductible donations from individuals and organizations help sustain these educational efforts.

Investment Portfolio

Launched in 2014, Point Positive has vetted over 75 ventures and financed 14 companies (5 of which are Minority Women-Owned Business Enterprises), triggering millions of dollars in additional capital, resulting in more than 135 new professional jobs. None of these companies is directly based on tourism; thus, they provide a stronger, more diversified economy in the Adirondacks.
